EXERCISE 2

Read the paragraph and choose the correct option (A-C)

Television Advertising

Advertisements are one of the frustrating parts of watching television. In the first place, the advertisements waste time. For instance, about 15 minutes is lost by watching the ads during a single news program. In the same way, the watcher wastes his time watching advertisements during a good movie. In the second place, the advertisements interrupt the viewer. For example, the viewer may forget the situation or show during the advertisement. Even worse, during a good movie, the watcher loses his feelings when the ad comes on, and that has bad psychological influences. The third place, the ads make many products look more appealing than they really are. For example, an expensive car is made to seem luxurious, or a bad product like deodorant is made to look very good by showing a beautiful amazing lady taking a shower. Accordingly, the television viewer must be aware and critical of the ads in order to endure them.
